Loan Will Be Most CompleteThe interest taken in the 1919 Victory Loan is growing daily. Business men throughout all Canada, and particularly in Southern Alberta, are banding themselves together for the purpose of making Canada's last appeal to her people the most successful domestic loan which has ever been floated. The loan will be advertised in many attractive ways and the appeal to the patriotism of every true Canadian will be well responded to.Canada is today in the position of a big business house reconstructing her affairs. She is sucking money but needs more capital to carry on.
She is re-establishing her solvency in a more complete way than probably any other country has ever attempted.
It is due these men that they should receive every advantage to help themselves that Canada can give them.All classes of Canadian people in all trades benefit directly by this distribution of money—the farmer, the artisan, the manufacturer, businessman, miner, fisherman and merchant.The working capital needed for this significant business can be obtained only by borrowing, and it is in every way desirable that the amount required should, if possible, be raised within Canada itself.
The war was not won with the signing of the armistice; it will not be won by the stringing of the peace;
it can only be won definitely and finally when every returned man is re-established, and when Canada stands pre-eminent among her neighbors.Every returned soldier should be an enthusiastic booster for the 1919 Victory Loan. Don't demoralize your patriotism with your uniform. Your help is needed today as much as it was when you were in France. You went to France as primarily, a good citizen of Canada. You are today asked to boost the Victory
Loan as a good citizen of Canada.The Victory Loan has no politics.
It is a national enterprise to supply working capital so that Canada may carry on.Mr. E. V.

Men, Men! Try It Tonight— Feel Fine Tomorrow

Simple Way to Get "Pep," To Be Put Right On Your Feet

When a man has lost ambition to "dig in" and stay at things—then he complains of headache, fullness at the right side, pains in the shoulder blade—it's purely a case of "Liver."

These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed. Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Give a mild vegetable laxative, they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits rise, complexion clears, animation returns. Nothing in the calendar so efficient for that tired, lary feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Very mild, don't interfere with work, invariably do lots of good. Try a 25c box, all dealers.

"That is a good thought," agreed Mr. Duncan, "but not a conclusive one. In reckoning the happiness a man gives me must, of course, subtract the unhappiness he occasions. He may make a great sum of money, and use much of it in creating happiness, but if in the making of the money he used methods that resulted in unhappiness, we must subtract the unhappiness first before we can give him any credit for the happiness he has created. And I am disposed to think that many a philanthropist, if weighed in that balance, would be found to have a debit side bigger than his credit. No matter how much wealth a man may amass, or how wisely he may distribute it, we cannot credit him with success if he has oppressed the hireling or dealt unfairly with his competitors or the public. Such a man is not a success; he is a failure. In his own soul he knows he is a failure, that is, provided he still has a soul, and if not, as I said before, he is a greater failure still."

Out of this discussion Mr. Duncan evolved the copy line, "The success of a life is in direct proportion to its net contribution to human happiness," and Dave sat writing it far into the night. As soon as Dave had learned to read a little Mr. Duncan took him one day to the public library, and the young man groped in amazement up and down the great rows of books. Presently a strange sense of inadequateness came over him. "I can never read all of those books, nor half of them," he said. "I suppose one must read them in order to be well informed."

Mr. Duncan appeared to change the subject. "You like fruit?" he asked.

"Yes, of course. Why?"

"When you go into a fruit store do you stand and say, 'I can never eat all of that fruit; crates and crates of it, and carloads more in the warehouse?' Of course you don't. You eat enough for the good of your system, and let it go at that. Now, just apply the same sense to your reading. Read enough to keep your mind fresh and alert, and vigorous, and let one new thought to wrestle with every day, and let the rest go."

Oh, I know that there is a certain school which holds that unless you have read this author or that author, or this book or that book, you are hopelessly uninformed or behind the times. That's literary snobbery. Let them talk. A mind that consumes more than it can assimilate is morally on a par with a stomach that swallows more than it can digest. Gluttons, both of them. Read as much as you can think about, and no more. The trouble with many of our people is that they do not read to think, but to save themselves the trouble of thinking. The mind, left to itself, insists upon activity. So they chloroform it."

Mr. Duncan also took occasion to speak with Dave about his religious views. He did not forget Dave's explanation of why he went out of the church. "I sympathize with your point of view a great deal," he said, "but don't be too sweeping in your conclusions. The church is too fussy over details; too anxious to fit the mind of man—which is his link with the Infinite—into some narrow, soul-crushing creed, too insistent upon the form of belief and not nearly insistent enough upon conduct. It makes me think of a man who was trying to sell me an automobile the other day. He was explaining all about the trimmings; the cushions and the lights and the horn and all that sort of stuff, and when he was through I said, 'Now tell me something about the motor. I want to know about the thing that makes the wheels go round. If it's no good I guess the trimmings are only fit for ducks.' Well, that's the way with the church. The motor that has kept it running for nineteen centuries is the doctrine of love; love of man to man, love of man to God, love of God to man. Nothing about wrath—that's only a back-slap—love. Without that motor all the trimmings are junk. Each sect has its own trimmings, but they all profess to use the same motor. . . . Still, the motor is all right, even if it is neglected and abused. I don't think you'll find a better, and you must have power of some kind."

"What about Socialism?" asked Dave.

"Very good, insofar as it is constructive. But there is a destructive brand of Socialism which seizes the fancy of disappointed and disgruntled men and women, and bids them destroy. There is a basic quality in all human nature which clamors for destruction. You see it in the child pulling his toys to pieces, or in the mob wrecking buildings. Destruction is easy and passionate, but construction demands skill and patience."

"I have been at some of their meetings," said Dave. "They lay great stress on the war between Labor and Capital."

"Between husband and wife in the family of production," interrupted Mr. Duncan. "Nothing is to be gained by that quarrel. I admit the husband has been overbearing, offensive, brutal, perhaps; but the wife has been slovenly, inefficient, shallow. Neither has yet been brought to realize how hopeless is the case of one without the other. And I don't think they will learn that by quarrelling. What they need is not hard words, but mutual respect and sympathy, and an honest conception of what constitutes success. Doctrines and policies are helpful to the extent to which they cause men to think, either directly or by creating environment conducive to thought; but they will never bring the golden age of happiness. That can come only through the destruction of selfishness, which can be destroyed only by the power of love. That is why I emphasized the motor in our talk about the church. It is our only chance."

Dave's talks with Mr. Duncan became almost nightly occurrences, either at the Duncan home, or when he drove the family—for the master of the house often accompanied them—or when they met down town, as frequently happened. And the boy was not slow to realize the broad nature of the task to which Mr. Duncan had set himself. His education was to be built of every knowledge and experience that could go into the rounding of a well-developed life. The climax seemed to be reached when Mr. Duncan invited Dave to accompany him to a dinner at which a noted thinker, just crossing the continent, had consented to speak.

"It will be evening dress," said Mr. Duncan. "I suppose you are hardly fitted out that way?"

"I guess not," said Dave, smiling broadly. He recalled the half humorous sarcasm with which the Metford gang referred to any who might be seen abroad in their "heroford frocks." He had a sudden vision of himself running the gamut of the ridicule.

But Mr. Duncan was continuing. "I think I can fix you up," he said. "We must be pretty nearly of a size, and I have a spare suit." And almost before he knew it was arranged that Dave should attend the dinner.

It was an eventful night for him. His shyness soon wore off, for during these months he had been learning to accept any new experience gladly. "Life is made up of experience," his teacher had said, "therefore welcome every opportunity to broaden your life by travelling in new tracks. There are just two restrictions—the injurious and the immoral. You must grow by experience, but be sure you grow the right way. Only a fool must growly seize the red road to see if it will burn."

But most of us are fools. And as he sat among this company of the best minds of the town he felt that a new and very real world was opening before him. His good clothes seemed to work up in some way through his sub-consciousness and give him a sense of capability. He was in the mental atmosphere of men who did things, and by conforming to their customs he had brought his mind into harmony with theirs, so that it could receive suggestions, and—who knows?—return suggestions. And he was made to think, think.

As he walked home with Mr. Duncan under the stars he spoke of the subtle sense of well-being and ability which came with good clothes. "I don't mind confessing I have always had something like contempt for stylish dressing," he said. "Now I almost feel that there's something to it."

"There is some good quality in everything that survives," said Mr. Duncan. "Otherwise it would not survive. That doesn't mean, of course, that the good qualities outweigh the bad, but the good must be there. Take the use of liquor, for instance; perhaps the greatest source of misery we have. Yet it touches a quality in man's life, sociability, conviviality, if you like; but a quality that has virtue in it none the less. And the errors of sex are so often linked with love that one can scarcely say where virtue ceases and where vice begins. I know 'convention' places them plainly enough, but convention does not make virtue vice, nor vice virtue. There are deeper laws down beneath, and sometimes they may set at defiance all accepted codes."

"Yet I would not quarrel with the accepted codes—until I knew I had something better. Accepted codes represent man's net progress through experience to truth. The code, for instance, 'Thou shalt not kill,' we accept it in general, but not completely. The State does not hesitate to kill in self-defence, or even to carry out purposes which have no relation to defence. And shall we not allow similar exceptions to the other codes? And yet, although we may find our codes are not infallible, are they not still the best guides we have?"

"To return to clothes. Clothes won't make you, but they will help you to make yourself. Only, don't become a clothes-tripper. You can run to intoxication on fine raiment as well as on fine wines. It has a virtue in it, but just beyond the virtue lies the vice."

CHAPTER EIGHT.

The summer was not far gone when Dave, through an introduction furnished by Mr. Duncan, got a new job. It was in the warehouse of a wholesale grocery, trundling cases and sacks of merchandise. It was cleaner than handling coal, and the wages were better—fifty dollars a month, to begin.

"The first thing is to get out of the dead-line," said Mr. Duncan. "I am not hoping that you will have found destiny in a wholesale warehouse, but you must get out of the dead-line. As long as you shovel coal you will shovel coal. And you are not capable of anything better until you think you are."

"But I've liked it pretty well," said Dave. "As long as I was just working for my wages it was dull going, but it was different after I got to see that even shovelling coal was worth while. I suppose it is the same with

Everyone Who Bought Canada's Victory Bonds Made Money

EVERY one of the million and a half subscribers to Canada's Victory Bonds knows that he can sell them today for more than he paid for them.

Every one who bought Canada's Victory Bonds has received $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. interest per annum—paid twice a year.

Over half a million Canadians who bought Canada's Victory Bonds on the instalment plan saved money that they would not otherwise have saved.

The guarantee back of Canada's Victory Bonds is the same as the guarantee back of a One Dollar or a Two Dollar bill. There is this difference, however, that you get interest on the Victory Bonds and you don't on the One or Two Dollar bill.

Canada's Victory Bonds will always be accepted as security for a loan.

Banks are ready to loan money on Canada's Victory Bonds.

Canada's Victory Bonds may be turned into cash at any time.

There is no other way in which you can invest your money with such absolute security—paying such a good rate of interest.

Canada will soon give her citizens an opportunity to buy Victory Bonds 1919. It will probably be the last chance to buy Canada's Victory Bonds on such favorable terms.

Co-operative Soldier Settlements in B.C.

Experiment Initiated by Veterans Themselves Makes Promising Progress

Three hundred officers and men returning for demobilization on the Empress of Asia evolved a scheme for co-operative settlement on the lands of British Columbia. They elaborated their scheme and presented it to the authorities. For a time they received little encouragement but eventually they found sympathy and encouragement from the Government of British Columbia. The Dominion Authorities agreed to endorse the project and now four soldier settlements in the province of British Columbia are in the course of development by soldier labour.

In the development of the estates, returned soldiers only are employed. Thus the problem of their employment is settled at once. When the lands are cleared and ready for occupation they will be sold to the soldiers, who will receive a $500 rebate on the purchase price. The Land Settlement Board has provided the lands.

Camp stores have been established by the Board and the profits of the stores are to be divided among the soldier settlers. When development has sufficiently proceeded, the stores will be taken by the settlers and run on co-operative principles.

Among the friends of the soldiers in British Columbia the movement is arousing the greatest interest. To the soldiers themselves it has all the fascination of creation. They have found what William James called "The moral equivalent of war." There is something to overcome—the sternness and strength of nature—something to civilize and, for their inspiration, as in the days of war, are the strong human affections—love of wives and children and comrades. They are delighted to work together and congratulate themselves that they have escaped the isolation of the old time settler.—A.B.

The Need for Thrift

Saving is not always looked upon as a saving grace. If it were, there would not be over five per cent of the inhabitants of the United States and probably an equally large percentage of Canadians who are dependent upon public charity. During the past five years practically all commodity prices have risen steadily yet vast sums in the aggregate are now being spent for goods that the purchasers could very well do without. The production of luxuries requires the labour of thousands of men and the use of capital and materials that could be turned to better account in producing and distributing necessities. It is surely obvious that such needless expenditures influence in a marked degree the trend of prices in general.

No right thinking nation or individual desires to become a pauper, but to avoid such a fate thrift is a prime essential. At no other time in the history of Canada has thriftiness been more imperative. At no other time has prodigality been so much the rule. It may be only a reaction following the enforced frugality of the late war years. It may be due to the surplus currency which war industries brought into being. But in any case, the general result is baneful and tends towards pauperism. If the discount on Canadian currency abroad is to be wiped out and the prices of necessities reduced, national and personal thrift is a precept which must be put into practice.—A.B.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded. They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system. When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious. Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless. They will get relief from the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes: "I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those pills, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money, and can highly recommend them to anyone."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are $4 a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Wheel Greatest Invention

"A World Without Wheels Is Best Left to the Imagination"
Some time ago readers of an English newspaper were asked to state what, in their opinion, constituted the world's greatest invention. There followed a veritable postcard deluge. Having sifted the wheat from the chaff, it was decided to award the greatest prize to Scott H. Jordan of the 19th Hussars, Aldershot, whose entry read:

"The world's greatest invention is undoubtedly the wheel, and the pain should be added to the unknown genius who invented it. Steam traction, spinning looms, motor cars, and, in fact, almost every invention and machine now in everyday use owes its very existence to wheels, and depends upon the wheel to enable it to carry out its functions. "A world without wheels is best left to the imagination. No taxis, no trains, no watches, no ships, and no 'revolution.' In fact, like love, it is 'wheels' that make the world go round."

Flying Fishers

None of us can yet tell in how many ways aviation is going to benefit our industries. There is one very important use to which it can be put which is at present engaging official attention. As we all know, aviators, when flying over the sea in fine weather, can see a long way down into the water, a fact which was made full use of in the course of U-boat hunting. From an aeroplane shoals of fish can be observed from the surface, and the suggestion is that trained observers should be employed on the principal fishery grounds to signal the presence and whereabouts of these shoals to the waiting trawlers below.—London Daily Chronicle.

Huge Stocks Held In Cold Storage

Winnipeg.—There is sufficient butter in cold storage in the warehouses of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company and the William Davies Company to take care of Manitoba's home consumption for nearly five months, reports filed by the managers of the two plants at a recent session of the Board of Commerce food probe revealed.

Gordon W. Shantz, general manager of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, stated that there are in storage at present 1,367,000 pounds of butter. John MacPherson, manager of William Davies' plant, has 367,878 pounds of butter in storage, making a total of 1,734,878 pounds of butter stored in these two warehouses at present. Both managers declared that this was nothing out of the ordinary and certainly not an abnormal condition.

The Manitoba Cold Storage plant has a matter of 1,110,000 dozen eggs in storage.

Particulars of the butter stored with the William Davies Company showed that Arthur Lobb, M.L.A. for Rockwood, has 13,500 pounds.

Over a half million pounds of frozen beef is stored by the same firm for Gordon, Treasurer and Fares, and 30,000 barrels of pickled pork. One of the men assisting with the work of the commission made the comment at the close of the session that he believed there would be discovered 3,000,000 pounds of beef in cold storage in Manitoba before the board was through its probe.

Hun Activities In Baltic

Germany's Recall of General Von Der Goltz Will Not Satisfy Supreme Council

Paris.—Germany's recall of General von der Goltz from the Baltic region will not satisfy the Supreme Council, it is asserted, the Council being determined to place economic pressure on Germany until all German soldiers are withdrawn from the Baltic.

While it cannot be said that a blockade is actually on, steps are being taken to bring about financial pressure which will speedily cut off the German food supply and bring the German public to a realization of the fact that German activities in the Baltic states must cease.

Notables Marked

For Assassination

Testimony Given By Former Military Attache of German Consulate

San Francisco, Cal.—Charles M. Schwab, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, former British Ambassador to the United States; Lord Fisher, of the British Admiralty; the late Lord Kitchener, and the British vice-consul at Ensenada, Mexico, were marked for assassination by agents of the German government, according to testimony given by former First Lieutenant Wilhelm von Brincken, formerly military attache of the German consulate in San Francisco, to Commissioner of Immigration Henry M. White, of Seattle, Washington.

A transcript of the statement was received here by Attorney Henry M. Owens, von Brincken's legal adviser in San Francisco. Von Brincken is serving a two-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island for the part he played in the so-called Hinde conspiracy case.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS A SERIOUS BOWEL TROUBLE

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly every one is liable to it. You can't tell when it seizes on you how it may end.

Allow the profuse diarrhoea, the vomiting and purging to continue for a day or two and you will become weak and prostrated. Just as soon as the bowels become loosened up, get a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check these unnatural movements, and thus prevent the system from becoming weakened.

Mrs. J. J. Allen, wife of the well known wholesale and retail fish dealer, 44 Hill St., Amherst, N.S., writes: "I have four children, the oldest being eight years old. Every summer they were troubled with Summer Complaint. Doctors' prescriptions did not seem to help them any. One day a friend asked me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I at once got a bottle, and to my surprise and wonder, I soon saw a change in them. I now keep a bottle of it in the house all the time, and will recommend it to any mother."

D'Annunzio Aids Regulars

Blockade of Fiume Is More Severe Than Formerly

Rome.—Orders closing the Jugoslav frontier have led to the chief of staff of the 26th Italian regular army corps at Albassia to interview Captain D'Annunzio's chief of staff and discuss measures to be taken. This has resulted in the sending of some of Captain D'Annunzio's volunteers to hold the armistice line according to the Epoca, which adds: "The event shows the cordial collaboration between the D'Annunzio troops and the regulars."

The correspondent of the Epoca says the blockade of Fiume is more severe than formerly, even mail being held at the frontier. There is food sufficient for three months for the population of Fiume.

Milk Advances In Toronto

Instead of 15 Tickets for a Dollar Consumer Will Receive

Toronto.—Under the order of the Board of Commerce, the price of milk will be increased here. Instead of 15 tickets for $1, the consumers will now receive 13 tickets for the same amount, which means an advance of a cent per pint.

The board permitted an increase to the farmer of 45 cents a can, which, upon the basis of consumption of 6,000 cans per day, means an increased income to the farmers of $2,700 a day, or $985,000 per year.

Rumanians Seize

German Plane

Manned By Four Officers Who Resented Their Arrest

Geneva.—Rumanian troops have seized a big German biplane carrying 300,000,000 paper rubles and a miniature but complete printing press at Hotin, Bessarabia, according to the Rumanian bureau at Bern. The plane, which was en route to Moscow, was forced to land at Hotin because of a leak in the gasoline tank. It was manned by four German officers, who are said to have resented their arrest. The rubles were all said to have been new notes.

Russian General

Must Apologize

For the Arrest of Two United States Officers

Vladivostok.—Maj.-Gen. Graves, commander of the United States forces in Siberia, has demanded an apology from General Rozanoff, in command of Russian troops in Primor province, for the arrest of two United States officers, Captain L. F. Johns and Corporal Benjamin Sprengling, and the flogging of the latter by Cossacks commanded by General Kalninkoff. An investigation of the conduct of a Japanese officer at Inan, the place where the arrests took place, has also been begun by the Japanese high command. The incident, which occurred September 5, is considered one of the most serious to occur since the allies landed in Siberia. The men were arrested by a detachment of Cossacks, who claimed the Americans were not provided with identification papers.

May Flame Into War

Italian Situation Becoming More of an International Question

Paris.—The inflamed conditions in the Adriatic region and the dissolution of the Italian government for the holding of a general election on November 16, as Rome dispatches have announced, is giving the supreme council much concern, in view of the possibility of all the Balkans becoming involved in the turmoil.

In peace conference circles the approaching Italian elections are regarded as a struggle between the war and peace parties, or rather between the forces on the military side and those of socialist and pacific tendencies, while it appears that D'Annunzio and Fiume would be an issue. The feeling is growing in Paris that his aspirations include far more than Fiume, the Italian situation is daily becoming more of an international question.

The view is expressed here that the agitation might flame into war any day, if, for instance, a Jugo-Slav should happen to be killed by Italian troops.

Too Much Canadian Bacon

So Plentiful That It Is Being Sold To Soapmakers In England

Montreal.—The Herald quotes a man who has just returned from Liverpool as claiming that unrequired Canadian bacon was sent to the soap factories in England. "Canadian bacon is a drug on the market in England," says the Herald's informant. "When I was in Liverpool 2,000 cases of Canadian bacon were going bad on the wharves there. It was sold to Lever Bros. to melt down to soap. Cases of Canadian bacon of 500-pound lot cases sold for 1s 2d each, or 28 cents for 500 pounds."

Retailers Will Be Called To Give Evidence

Toronto.—Another sitting of the Board of Commerce will be held here when Judge Robson, chairman, W. E. O'Connor, vice-chairman, and F. A. Acland, deputy minister of labor, will be the commissioners present. The probe will embrace the retailers' end of the high price of wearing apparel. Retailers will be called to give evidence, and the costs will be worked back to the manufacturer to see where the great spread comes in the prices of all textiles at the present time.

The sitting of the court promises further interest in the fact that the big food packers will be on hand to fight to the last ditch the order bringing down the price of wholesale pork products.

U. S. Shipyard Tied Up Now

About 60,000 Men in Grip of Great Industrial Struggle

San Francisco.—Involving approximately 60,000 men, including both skilled and unskilled labor, San Francisco, Oakland and Alameda are in the grip of industrial disturbances which have greatly hampered industry in the entire San Francisco Bay district. Shipyard and iron trades workers, tailors, stevedores, taxi drivers, clerks, street railway employees, ferry boat employees and river steamer men are affected.

The most serious development in the labor situation came when 25,000 shipyard and iron trades workers in Oakland and Alameda, and 30,000 in San Francisco, struck. The shipyard and iron workers went out in an effort to force the payment of a wage increase of eight cents per hour.

Union officials say the tie-up of the shipyards is complete. No statement forthcoming from the California Metal Trades Association.

Blockade Begins

Paris.—The blockade of Germany which was threatened by the allies in case the German troops of General von der Goltz were not removed from the Baltic region has started, according to the Intransigant. No food ships, it declares, will be permitted to start for Germany until further orders are issued.

Vessels now on the way to German ports, however, will be permitted to proceed to their destinations.

St. Louis, Mo.—Warning that if Germany is permitted to continue her "nefarious operations" in Russia, in ten years she would become as powerful as before the war, David R. Francis, American ambassador to Russia, talking before the convention of the American Bankers' Association, said the real solution of industrial unrest in Russia and the United States lies in the peace treaty. He urged immediate ratification of the League of Nations.

He charged that the Brest-Litovsk treaty was arranged by Lenin with Germany, and that Lenin and Trotsky were German agents. Labor troubles all over the world emanated from Russia, he said, and said it was impossible to establish peace in Europe while the Bolsheviks reigned in Russia.

Clothing To Be Made From Pulp

Laundry Work May Be Abolished
By This Substitute for Linen

Vancouver, — Sir George Williams, head of the Whelan company, textile manufacturer, is a strong proponent of the future of the pulp industry. In an interview he said: "The pulp industry is in the infancy. It is in the same position as steel was 25 years ago. Paper made from pulp has been employed to make wheels on the Pullman cars. In a few years everything we wear will be made of pulp. Five years from now the housekeeper will have all her kitchen utensils made of pulp. The laundry will largely disappear because our underclothes, shirts, collars, tablecloths, napkins, etc., will be made from pulp. British Columbia will produce the pulp for the world because nowhere else is there grown better wood than the Sitka spruce found on the British Columbia coast. Sitka spruce has the longest and strongest fibre of any wood, and was extensively used in the manufacture of airplanes. It makes the strongest and whitest pulp, as strong as the pulp made by the Egyptians from linen in the form of papyrus. Nowhere else in the world is there such an enormous supply of pure water, one hundred thousand gallons is needed to make a ton of pulp. I believe that pulp will finally solve the high cost of living."

To Help Soldier Settlers

Board Asking Successful Farmers to Take on Apprentices

The Soldier Settlement Board of Canada is making an appeal to successful farmers throughout the country to assist in the training of soldier settlers. One of the principles of the Board's policy is to settle only those returned soldiers who are capable of making a good living out of the soil. It very carefully scrutinizes the qualifications of all applicants; and of the thirty thousand or more who have applied for the privileges of the act, a considerable number have been found to be lacking only in experience. They seem to be suitable men in every way for agricultural work. The Board has adopted a system of training, which is this: In some districts training centres have been established, where returned soldiers are able to secure a knowledge of the fundamentals of farming, but, after that brief training, there is the need of these soldiers gaining further experience in the districts in which they proposed to locate permanently, and the Board is asking successful farmers to take on one or more soldier settlers as apprentices for a year's training.

The Board pays allowances for the subsistence on the dependents of these soldiers, but it expects that the men will be paid adequately for the work they do.

This ought to appeal to our large-hearted and prosperous farmers. The Soldier Settlement Board is not going to place its apprentices with men who have not been successful, but it does think that men of experience should be willing, and will be willing, to share that experience with the boys who for four years or more protected the interests of Canada and the Empire overseas.

This is a reasonable request, and one that should meet with hearty response.

Foch's Famous Despatch

Paris—Many versions of Marshal Foch's famous despatch to French general headquarters during the first battle of the Marne have been published.

Raymond Recrody, whose book on Foch has just been published, has been permitted to search the records of the French army headquarters and finds the original despatch from Foch to Joffre reads thus:

"My comrade is giving way; my right is retreating; the situation is excellent. I am attacking."

The most curious "Bible" ever made by devout believers is to be found near Mandalay, in Burma. It consists of about 700 volumes, each containing a single slab of white marble. On these slabs has been engraved the whole text of the Buddhist "Bible," containing more than eight million syllables.

Deprecates Alarmist Crop Reports

An Eastern Banker's Opinion of Western Crop Conditions

Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, has just returned to the east after making a tour of the west. Before leaving Montreal, Sir Frederick had heard some alarmist reports regarding crop conditions in the Prairie Provinces, but he was entirely disillusioned when he came out here. He gave an interview on his return to Montreal, and among other things discussed the crop outlook in Western Canada, about which he said:

"As regards the crops, one reads and hears of partial failure, but if a wheat-hungry European could suddenly arrive by airplane in our western heavens and cover by flight the three provinces, his mouth would surely water at the sight that would meet his eyes. There are bare patches, it is true, but one cannot pass through hundreds of miles within the great triangle bounded by Winnipeg, Edmonton and Lethbridge, where wheat, like gold, lies piled in countless heaps, as far as the eye can stretch, and ask crop failure."

"As to quantity, I will leave it to my friends possessed of more data or more courage than I to estimate the yield in bushels. It will suffice for me to say that there is no widespread dejection in the West over the crop result, and that though there might well have been a more uniform yield, a crop of wheat is assuredly worth say, 350 millions of dollars in current cost of the realm, something to be thankful for in these times, and the best tangible evidence of our western resources, if not, indeed, the pivot of Canada's solvency."

"Notwithstanding disquieting reports that subsequently became alarming regarding the livestock situation current in the east, on approaching the ranching country, the cattlemen were found in a complacent frame of mind, and at the present moment from a commercial point of view are less concerned over the livestock situation than that the great stampede in Calgary should be a success."

The Order Of Merit

Marshal Joffre Second Frenchman to Receive British Honor

It is curious to note that while it has always been possible to admit distinguished foreigners to the Order of Merit, Marshal Joffre is only the second Frenchman to receive this high British honor. Until the King gave the O.M. to Foch last year, Japan was the only foreign country to have bestowed members of the Order, Prince Yamagata, Count Togo and the late Prince Oyama having been appointed some years ago. All the foreign O.M.'s have thus been military members.

Of the more or so of British O.M.'s there are but three survivors of the dozen selected by King Edward to be original members when he founded the Order to mark his Coronation in 1902. They are Lord Morley, Lord Rayleigh and Sir E. H. Seymour.

Preparing to Resist Germans

London, England.—The Lithuanian Press Bureau has issued a statement citing instances in support of its contention that the Germans are still resolved not to abandon their policy of Germanization in the Baltic countries.

The statement adds that the Lithuanian authorities and the allied mission of Kovno daily receive protests from the population of Northern Lithuania, regarding the brutality of the German soldiers, and declare that the inhabitants have reached the limit of their endurance and are preparing to resist and expel the Germans by force of arms, just as they did the Bolsheviks.

More German Trickery

Despite the peace terms fourteen hundred Polish soldiers who went to the American-occupied area for the purpose of transporting to Poland six thousand horses and mules which were purchased from the United States army, are being held up indefinitely near Coblenz by Germany's refusal to undertake supervision of hauling troops and animals across Germany by rail.

All men are born good, but few stay good.

Crown Prince Is Disliked In Holland

Village Belles Will Have None of His Haughtiness

The German ex-Crown Prince, it seems, is still at Wieringen. But if a referendum were held among the inhabitants of Wieringen, the island would soon be rid of him. Even the feeling of the humblest peasant is decidedly against a prolonged stay of the uninvited guest.

"Little Willie" caused a small commotion in the island in the beginning; but now each man goes his way without taking any notice of the illustrious personage. It is true that he walks in "klompens," or wooden shoes, and that he "pals up" to the villagers; but these things he must do, otherwise he would be miserable beyond belief. That is the consensus of opinion among the Wieringers.

But, says one of the island notables, he is as hypocritical as ever. His handling of the thoroughbred his work at the village blacksmith's are a make-believe—another manifestation of his old craving for popularity. And the village belles of Oosterland will have none of his haughtiness, none of his plandering.

But why Willie is scuttling his booties broadcast, giving sweets to the little children and occasional presents to their parents. The only cab-owner on the island has done well, by driving him and his small retinue, and their occasional visitors about. He has been able to buy a motor-car, and shows you with some pride the fur coat he has got from the "Prince," with the gold tie-pin with its gold "W" and the imperial crown.

Yes, sturdy Japp Brunel, the proprietor of the Wieringen stage coach, the only public means of conveyance, would be loath to see his best client depart. But even Brunel's man betrays a spirit of independence towards the majesty of the ex-potential potentate. "I just treat him as I do you, mynheer," the Wieringer cabby said to me, "not as they did in Potsdam, and if he doesn't like it he can lump it!"

But the biggest man on the island, should Willie quit, would be the village parson, who in deference to the wishes of the Dutch Government gave up his manse for six weeks, which have grown to long over six months, and who fervently hopes that his house need not shelter young William for six years.

Easy for Him

There was a puddle, formed by heavy showers, at the crossing at Sixth avenue, and the Dutch student, the home-going crowd grew and the traditional good humor typical of crowds was missing.

Swinging along on a crutch, one leg gone at the knee, came one of our own doughboys. The mark of suffering was still plain on the face. The soldier placed his crutch in the middle of the puddle, his one good foot still on the dry curb, and easily swung himself to the other side.

With a grin he turned and called back to the helpless ones: "Carry on, civilians," and disappeared up the street.—New York Correspondent.

Rains In The West

There have been copious rains in all three prairie provinces in the past month and it is noted that such a supply of moisture was not added to the soil in 1916, 1917 or 1918. Its coming now is viewed by the wheat growers as an earnest of a "good year" in 1919. All are doing their utmost to conserve the moisture-content of the land by zealous tillage with disc and drag-larrows. Next year should see an increased acreage under spring grains, especially in the Western Provinces.

Irrigation at Lethbridge

Calgary, Alta.—Farmers north of Lethbridge, by an overwhelming majority, endorsed the proposed irrigation scheme to bring water to 100,000 acres.

The farmers are asking the government to guarantee the bonds of the new district for the construction.

Wise is the candidate who knows his own backers.

National Status Of Dominion

Constitutional Relationship Of Great Britain And The Dominions Modified By Events Of War

In replying to the Nationalists in the South African House of Assembly, Premier Smuts made a notably important statement on the constitutional relationship of Great Britain and the Dominions, as modified by events of the war period and the decisions of the Versailles conference.

Until last year, he said, Britain's ministers had signed all documents and dealt with all matters affecting the Dominions. A change had come in Paris when the Dominion representatives had, on behalf of the King, for the first time signed a great document, the Peace Treaty. The change was that in the future the representatives of the Dominions would act for the Dominions. The precedent is now laid down for all time.

Premier Smuts said the change was a far-reaching one which would alter the whole base of the British Empire. Regarding the League of Nations it was incorrect to say that in the League the British Empire was a unit. The Empire was a group, but South Africa had exactly the same rights and voice as the United Kingdom. Though the United Kingdom was a permanent member of the central council, South Africa could be elected to the council.

He added that the Germans had been told that if there were parts of the Treaty which could not be carried out, they had means of obtaining modifications in the League of Nations in which Gen. Smuts foresaw the enemy countries would become members at no distant date. Gen. Smuts defended President Wilson against the charge of bad faith regarding his fourteen points. He declared that President Wilson had done most of all towards restoring peace.

What It Meant To France

War Losses 26 Per Cent. of All Men Mobilized

Speaking for the government, Andre Tardieu said that the French war losses had been 26 per cent. of all the men mobilized. Of soldiers under 31, 37 per cent. were dead.

These authentic figures agree with those usually given; about one million and a half were killed. It is the appalling proportion of the young and vigorous that arrests attention. These were the men whom France looked for the future; theirs the strong arms for lack of which reconstruction lags, finance is paralyzed, hope itself sometimes almost falters. More than half the boys and young men with the colors dead—and how many weakened by wounds, or mutilated! This is what it meant to France to stand at the eastern frontier of freedom. If the nations are not capable of preventing a repetition of such a tragedy, then statesmanship is bankrupt.—New York World.

Uses of Buttermilk

Years ago buttermilk was considered a waste in the creamery business and thousands of pounds of it were poured into sewers. More recently its great value has been discovered as human and animal food, both as whole buttermilk and in such forms as buttermilk and powdered buttermilk.

Buttermilk cheese is wholesome and nutritious, resembling cottage cheese in appearance, though of finer and smoother texture. Condensed buttermilk is used by packing houses as poultry and hog feed. Powdered buttermilk, when combined with the proper proportions of water, makes a good lactic drink. It may be used also to supplement sour milk in cooking and baking.—R. W. Terrell, South Dakota State College.

Field Peas Are Profitable Crop

Some farmers are growing a few acres of field peas and getting good returns. The high prices ruling make them a very profitable crop where they can be successfully grown. A farm survey, conducted in one of the irrigated districts in Montana, showed that they were the most profitable cash crop grown. Reports have come to hand of farmers who have grown as much as 50 acres with gratifying results.

Germans Are Learning Truth

Evil Prussian Spirit Which Wrought Such Incalculable Damage Has Gone

There are some indications that the German people are at last beginning to see that the Prussian policy of terrifying the world by force has proved to be both useless and fatal. This is the view taken in a special article to the New York Times by George Renwick, one of the calmest and most judicious of the war correspondents. He has just been making a visit to Germany, and as a result is rather hopeful of conditions there. He says:

"I believe that a war of revenge—prepared before a watching world—is impossible. Germany is worn and half starved and can only carry her burdens if the reduced strength of her workmen is restored by supplies of food, and her trade and industries are set going again by financial credits and raw materials. It will be a long process, and at present Germany's fate does really hang in the balance."

Mr. Renwick believes that the truth about the war is gradually but thoroughly getting into the minds of the German people. He thinks that the new constitution of Germany is genuinely democratic, and that it gives an opportunity to function it may accomplish much. He does not fear that the militaristic reactionaries will succeed in again seizing the reins of power, for, he says, "Germany is beaten and she knows it. The evil Prussian spirit which during nearly fifty years had leavened Germany to her hurt, which wrought such incalculable damage to the whole world, which aroused a hatred and a justifiable anger not easily to be overcome—that spirit is gone. All investigators, I think, agree with me there."

It would perhaps be safer to say that the Prussian spirit, while not entirely gone, has been greatly weakened. While the rest of the world should not in foolish optimism cease to be on guard to prevent any revival of Prussianism, it should as far as possible encourage and support those Germans who are struggling to develop a spirit of humanism and liberalism among their countrymen.—New York Outlook.

Record Cars of Wheat

Plenty of Rolling Stock to Handle Their Movement

Grain is being moved so expeditiously that, according to C.P.R. officials, the greater part of the wheat will be out of the West before navigation closes making a new record for grain movement in Canada. As an example of the movement, figures from September 1 to 17 are given on the C.P.R. officials. This year in that period 6,563 carloads of wheat were sent out of Manitoba over the C.P.R., compared with 2,296 for the same period last year. Officials stated that there was plenty of rolling stock to handle the movement, and that the terminals at Port William and Port Arthur were prepared to handle any increase in the rush that was possible. The heavy rains have caused considerable delay recently in the loading of cars and in threshing.

Foch and Roberts

Marshal Foch, during his recent stay in England, made a special journey out of London to visit the Countess Roberts—daughter of his old friend and ally, Lord Roberts, of memory. In the course of his visit the Marshal asked of his hostess permission to walk around the garden with the officer of his staff, who accompanied him. "I want," he said, "to walk where before the war I walked with Field-Marshal Lord Roberts, and I want to tell to this officer of mine just what Lord Roberts told me in those days of what he believed Germany intended and what has since taken place."

The busy little bee is better off than the busy man; he is provided with a sting to protect himself against loafers who come around to interfere with his work.
